March 24, 2016 - CHAMBERSBURG, PA –

Do you know where to turn when you have a problem or concern related to human services? Are you aware of the many services and supports offered by Franklin County?

Franklin County Human Services is holding their next Reaching Out for Resources Day on April 12th. This community outreach session, open from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm, will provide information on the various services that are offered to Franklin County residents. To improve access to and education about these services, representatives will be at the Chambersburg Hispanic American Center, located at 252 S. Main Street, in Chambersburg. This session is designed to assist those seeking a solution to their current human service needs. A Spanish bilingual representative will be on hand to assist with translating the available services from the Franklin County Human Services.

Following the Reaching Out for Resources, a Town Hall meeting will be held at the Franklin Fire Company in the Rossman Room. This meeting will be from 4:00 – 5:30 pm and will provide information about Franklin County Children and Youth, in regards to the many services that they offer in your community. Additionally, members representing each of the Franklin County Human Services Departments will also present to answer specific questions about their services.
