INTEGRITY

David Sunderland
Franklin County Jail

The recipient of the Integrity award strictly adheres to the moral, legal and ethical principles underlying county operations and service deliveries. An employee that embodies integrity upholds the highest standards of what is morally right or just. He or she sets the example for those around them of how to have respect of the highest caliber while maintaining the highest standards of legal compliance. This employee is loyal, trustworthy, steadfast, strong, thorough, consistent, and above all else a voice of reason.

“ I am deeply honored to receive this award and feel truly appreciative to have been selected. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to everyone involved in this decision. Integrity is defined as doing the right thing, even when no one is watching. While I am grateful to be acknowledged, the true privilege lies in working alongside an exceptional team of security staff, treatment staff, support staff and administration that show integrity every day. They consistently uphold the highest standards of honesty and professionalism, which is truly inspiring to me.
